SECTION C: READING .(10 mks)

Carefully read the following passage and answer the questions that follows.

“How to use a tablet”

There are many different tablets on the market. All the tablets are operated by means of touchscreens and electronic keyboards. You do not need a mouse to operate a tablet.

The touchscreen allows you to interact with the tablet. You touch the screen in different ways with your fingers. The first thing that you do is to touch or tap or an icon or the screen to open an application. Once the application is open, you can use your fingers to make the text on the screen bigger or smaller. You pinch the with your fingers to make it smaller and push the text out with your fingers to make it bigger. You can also drag or scroll the text up or down and from right to left across the table with your finger to get to the next page.

If you want to do an internet search or send an email, an electronic keyboard will appear on the touchscreen. You use this as you would use a normal keyboard, by tapping on each letter.
